11. M: Rose Wilson? It's been a long time since we last met.

W: Jack! How have you been?

M: I just got my new job and it's going great. Wow, you've changed a lot!

W: Well, I've lost some weight, and my hair is longer than before.

M: You look great now. How are you doing?

W: I'm doing really well. I got married three years ago and have two kids now.

M: That's wonderful!

Question: What is the man surprised at?

12. W: This is your first time to visit Paris, right?

M: Yes, I'm so excited to be in such a beautiful city.

W: Glad you enjoy your stay here. I'm so sorry that Anna keeps me from showing you around. She is too young to take care of herself. Have you visited any parks yet?

M: No, I haven't. What's so special about the parks here?

W: Parks are amazing places for you to experience the real Paris. Just spend some time there, and you'll find the city full of life!

M: Sounds great! I've put it in my to-do list.

W: Hope you enjoy your trip to the parks. If you want to share anything interesting after visiting them, I'm all ears! Drop by and see my lovely baby girl before you go back to Taiwan.

Question: Who might be the woman?

13. G: May I go out with Jennifer this Saturday?

W: But you've promised me to clean your bedroom, haven't you?

G: I know, but Jennifer is moving to New York and she's my best friend. We just want to spend her last day in Taiwan together. Mom, please...

W: OK, but you have to make your bedroom as clean as possible by the end of the weekend.

G: Sure, it's a deal.

Question: What can we learn from the dialogue?

14. M: Good afternoon. What can I do for you?

W: My dress is too big. Could you make it one size smaller?

M: No problem.

W: And there's also a hole on the back. Could you fix it, too?

M: I see. When do you need it?

W: Is tomorrow possible?

M: Hmm... I'm not sure. The fixing always takes time. I'll call you when I finish it.

Could you leave your phone number here?

W: Sure.

Question: Which is true?

15. B: Hi, I'm Zac. My family goes abroad for traveling twice a year. I have been to many countries like the USA, Korea, and Japan. This February, Dad took us to Sapporo, the largest city in Hokkaido, Japan. It was the third time for me to visit the country but the first time to spend the Chinese New Year abroad. We enjoyed the beautiful snow and built a snowman by ourselves. Next week, we are flying to Italy and staying there for the month of July. Summer vacation is around the corner. I just can't wait to experience life in a whole new country to me!

Question: Which is true about Zac?
