Kyle

Shakespeare said, “Nothing comes of nothing.” I agree with him. If you do nothing, you will get nothing. If you give nothing, you will get nothing. We need to do something.

Ellie

Shakespeare said, “When clouds appear, wise men put on their cloaks.” We need to be smart enough to sense the coming danger and take action to avoid it.

Lucas

A real wise man will never stop learning. When my students tell me they have already learned enough or are smart enough, I will say, “The fool thinks he is wise, but the wise man knows himself to be a fool.” Wise people seldom show off themselves, but foolish people often do so.

Mia

Shakespeare told us, “Listen to many, speak to a few.” That’s right. When we speak, we just give our limited ideas. When we listen, we get more from others.

Violet

I help sad people change their minds. I love the saying, “For there is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so.” It tells me nothing is good or bad in itself. Perspective matters! I hope the people coming to my hospital can be happy every day.

Owen

I always tell others there are no ugly people; there are only lazy ones. “God gave you one face, and you make yourself another.” It’s up to you to decide on your look. There is always a way for everyone to make themselves look better. After saying this, more people come to my shop and buy more clothes there. Thanks to Shakespeare’s saying, my business becomes better.

46. Who may tell us the following story to support his or her favorite saying?

On a cool autumn day. A grasshopper asked the ant, “What are you doing?” The ant stopped and looked at him. “I’m moving food to our nest,” he answered. “Come and play with me,” said the grasshopper, “We can sit in the cool and chat.” The ant said, “I can’t. We’re storing food for the coming winter. You should be doing the same.” “Oh, I do not care about winter,” laughed the grasshopper. “There’s much food around. Come on!” The grasshopper still found food easily, so he was happily playing around while the ant kept working. But when winter arrived, the snow fell earlier than usual. Finding food was more difficult for the grasshopper. He didn’t sing anymore, and he felt cold all the time. He had to keep moving and looking for food. Unluckily, he found nothing but snow to eat. He got weaker and weaker until he couldn’t move at all.
