*I run, I ride.
I read and write.
I pick, I pull,
I fly a kite,

I open and close
I touch my nose,
I carry a sled
In case it snows.
I give a gift,
I tell a tale,
I see a sign,
I shout, “For sale!”

I clean, I wash,
I eat so I’ll grow,
Who makes my food?
I want to know.

I cut, I draw,
My art I show,
I sit, I sing,
Up high, down low,
I look, I jump,
I find a nest,
I trip, I fall
I need a rest!

From day to night
I keep on the go,
I close my eyes
To sleep! shh!*

When you watch American basketball or baseball games, you can see some cheerleaders. They cheer for their teams by singing songs, dancing and shouting. By doing this, they can not only help their players win but also bring some fun to the audience.

Cheerleading usually lasts one to three minutes. For the three-minute show, cheerleaders have to cheer, dance, jump and sing. So, they must be very healthy and strong to get a lot of practice and training before they can stand on the court to perform. This takes time and energy, so it is quite hard for both men and women. Today’s cheerleaders are mostly women. However, the early cheerleading teams were made up of men. In 1923, people could finally see women in this activity because at that time men were sent to join World War II. After that, more and more girls were chosen as team members.

Cheerleading was getting popular in the US early in the 1950s. In 1972, one of the most famous football teams from Texas, started the first professional cheerleading team. Sports fans liked them very much, so other teams around the country started to have their own professional cheerleading teams. Now, most American high schools and colleges have their own cheerleading teams. Every year, thousands of girls practice a long time to become professional cheerleaders. After they become one, the girls must work even harder. They need to show their best part in all the games and cheer for their teams with all their hearts. It is tiring but they also have a lot of fun. Next time, when you watch sports games, don’t forget to give those cheerleaders a big hand!
