Why Don't You Ask for Directions?

Jesse always gets lost, but, as a man, he never asks for directions. A lot of men are like Jesse. In fact, lots of studies show that men drive 356 kilometers more than women in a year because they won't ask for help when getting lost.

One study looked into a group of male and female drivers. Over 25% of the men would wait 30 minutes before asking for directions. However, 12% of the men would never ask for any help. What's more, 40% of the men wouldn't follow strangers' directions. All that lost drive time would cost men more than NT$90,000 over their whole lives. As for female drivers, almost 75% of them wouldn't have any problems asking for directions. Besides, 37% of them would even pull over by the sidewalk and ask others for help right away.

Next time you go traveling, choose a female friend. This way, you are less likely to get lost because she'll help you find the way.

One hot summer, a rabbit went down to a river to drink some water. He saw himself in the river when he was drinking water.

“Look at my long ears!” the rabbit said to himself. “I’m so proud of them, but my legs are so short. They make me look stupid.”

When the rabbit finished drinking, he raised his head up and found that a tiger was jumping to him. With his short legs, the rabbit began to run as fast as the wind. The tiger could not catch up with him.

“I’m so lucky,” said the rabbit happily when he stopped running. Five minutes later, the tiger appeared again. Just when the rabbit saw the tiger, the tiger caught him by the long ears. That was the end of the rabbit.

37. Which is NOT implied(暗示) in the reading?
(A) Ask others' ideas before taking any action.
(C) Beautiful things may bring trouble.
- (B) Even things we don't like can be useful.
(D) People often can't understand what may be important.
38. What do we know from the reading?
(A) The tiger was proud of running fast.
(C) The tiger caught the rabbit's tail in the end.
- (B) The rabbit was finally killed in his sleep.
(D) The rabbit ran away the first time he saw the tiger.

The horse arriving at the station is going to make history. It will be the first one to ride in a passenger carriage in UK. This horse’s new owner is Helena from London. She saw guide horses working in America before, so she would like to do so here.

A guide dog may work seven to eight years, but a working horse can be with the owner for 30 years. “Guide dogs are fantastic animals but it’s good to have other animals to choose from,” said Helena, “Horses can be trained and they enjoy working. And they’re great companions. So, why not?

This 20-month-old horse, Digby, was especially trained for this very job. This metro trip was a test to see if he could hack it and he seemed to be doing OK.

There are some naysayer, but most people agree with this idea. Transport for London say they would keep checking on Digby.

39. According to the reading, which is TRUE?
- (A) Helena trained the first guide horse in UK.
- (B) A guide horse can work longer than a guide dog.
- (C) The idea of guide horses is getting more and more popular in UK.
- (D) Transport for London plans to have more guide horses at the metro station later.

40. Who is a “naysayer”?

- (A) Commuter 1: It’s a horse, isn’t it? Shouldn’t it be in a field but not on a train?
- (B) Commuter 2: That’s pretty cool. Maybe it can be of some help.
- (C) Commuter 3: I think it’s a good idea. Yeah, it’s a change.
- (D) Commuter 4: How interesting! Let’s see how well can a guide horse do.

Donna Strickland, the 2018 Nobel Prize winner in physics, is only the third female winner in physics. She won the Nobel for her ground-breaking inventions in laser physics. Strickland designed a way for doctors to use lasers beams as very precise cutting tools on millions of eye operations.

Physics still has one of the largest gender gaps in science. One study said that it would need more than two hundred years until there were the same numbers of scientists of both gender in physics.

The last woman to win a physics Nobel was German-born Maria Goeppert-Mayer in 1963. Before that, it was Marie Curie, who shared the 1903 prize with her husband, Pierre. This year’s winners hope that people will care more about their work than their gender.
