E-skin, a cool new kind of skin, might help robots feel the same way as humans do. It was first made at the University of Glasgow and took ideas from how our nerves work.

Scientists use sensors to make E-skin as sensitive as real skin. Thanks to the modern product, robot hands look and act like humans'. What's cooler, they now have sense of touch. When a robot hand, covered by E-skin full of sensors, touches something or is touched, its electricity will change, just like how our nerves work. A special circuit inside the skin acts like a nerve connection. Through the circuit, the sensor's signal is turned into a hit. If the hit reaches a certain level of strength, the robot hand will react to it. For example, the hand will quickly move away if it feels a strong hit.

Professor Ravinder Dahiya said, "We think it is a big step toward making a special E-skin that can handle all kinds of signals." He and his team keep on studying how to make E-skin deal with as many signals as possible. In the future, this new skin may help robots work smarter.

In 1959, a doll named Barbie was introduced to the world and won the hearts of millions of people around the world. Over her 64-year career, Barbie has traveled to many places and taken on over 250 different jobs from being an astronaut to a rock star. The movie Barbie has been on in theaters. The movie is directed by Greta Gerwig and stars Margot Robbie and Ryan Gosling.

Initially, Barbie was created by Ruth Handler, owner of the toy company, Mattel. Barbie's full name is Barbara Millicent Roberts. Handler named the Barbie doll after her daughter Barbara, who gave her ideas for creating Barbie. At that time, baby dolls were the popular toy; there were not many adult-bodied dolls for little girls to role-play and imagine the future.

Barbie's design was modeled after the Bild Lilli doll, which had been inspired by a German comic-strip character. In the first year, about 300,000 Barbie dolls were sold, and the public's love for Barbie kept growing. In 2021, over 86 million Barbie dolls were sold. Barbie goes on to evolve with changing times and it shows the diversity of modern women.

Green Plan in Wonder City
Make new out of the old!

Since 1999, Wonder City has started a green plan and has been greatly successful in many ways. Some places, like railways, factories, and open lands, were not used anymore in the past. Now they have been changed and brought to new life since they have become parks, restaurants, museums and shopping centers. They look fresh and clean with trees, flowers and pieces of art. Olde River, for example, is now a pink belt in the spring with born-to-smiles on both of its sides. They are beautiful and smell great. Many people take a walk or go bicycling along the banks of the river.

Thanks to this plan, the city has become cleaner and younger. Every May, a big green festival is celebrated in Wonder City. People from other cities go to the festival to learn how to make their own cities more beautiful. The more beautiful their cities are, the more satisfied people are with their environment!

C. 請聽對話和問題，選出最適當的答案。10% (W⇒woman; M⇒man; B⇒boy; G⇒girl)

11. W: It's time for bed, Tommy. Go to bed and have a nice sleep.

B: Dad hasn't come back home, and he promised to say good night to me.

W: He has to work overtime today, and you just talked to him on the phone, didn't you?

B: Yeah...he will come back home soon, right?

W: I'm not sure. How about listening to a bedtime story while you're waiting for Dad?

B: Yes! I want to know what happened to the rat after it was caught by the snake in the grass. Was it eaten by the snake?

Question: What will Tommy do next?

12. G: Hey, why are you wearing a long face?

B: I was chosen to join the speech contest by Ms. White.

G: Cool! Good for you.

B: I don't think so. I don't think my English is good enough to speak in front of others, so I have to spend more time practicing and preparing for it. I can't even play basketball with my classmates after school.

G: Don't think that way. I think Ms. White chose you because she thinks you can make it. Also, you will be able to learn a lot from it. This will be a special experience for you.

B: Well, maybe you're right.

G: If you need my help, I'll be there for you.

B: Many thanks. It's nice of you.

Question: What is the girl trying to tell the boy?

13. B: Mom, Dad looks angry. Did something happen?

W: Well, I had a meeting at Four Seasons Hotel this morning. After the meeting, I came out of the hotel and looked for my car key. It wasn't in my pocket. Suddenly I realized I must have left the key in the car. Your dad shouted at me several times for this because he thought the car would be stolen. Then I rushed to the parking lot. I didn't see my car there.

B: That's too bad. Did you call the police?

W: Of course. Twenty minutes later, I also made the most difficult call to your dad and told him what happened.

B: Dad shouted at you again?

W: No, he kept silent for a while and said, "I drove you to the hotel. Don't you remember that? Please come home as soon as possible to tell the policeman why YOUR car is in front of MY house."

Question: Which is true about the woman?

14. M: Nancy, have you ever been in an accident before?

W: Yes, I was in a car accident last year.

M: Oh, no. Were you hurt?

W: I hit my head really hard, and I had a check in the hospital later. Luckily, nothing was serious.

M: That's good to hear. How did the accident happen?

W: It was my fault. I was trying to pick my cellphone while driving, and that took my eyes off the road for a few seconds. I didn't see the red light and hit the car in front of mine.

M: That's quite dangerous. Did you have to pay for the damages?

W: Yes, I had to pay for both cars' damages. That cost me an arm and a leg, but I'm lucky that I wasn't hurt badly and the other driver was okay, too.

M: Yes. Always pay full attention when you're driving. It's better to be safe than sorry.

Question: Which is true about the car accident?

15. W: Hi, this is Kelly Nelson and I'm now in a 24-hour self-service ramen convenience store in Korea. It's not big but the walls are filled with instant noodles for you to choose from. You order and pay through the machine. There are lots of choices. Well, I'll pick this one with a big word "Shin" on its packing bag. "Shin" means spicy in Korean, and I love spicy food. You can cook your ramen in a pot, but I want to do it in a paper bowl. Wow, it smells so good! I'm also getting some kimchi and a slice of cheese. Put the cheese right on the hot ramen and it'll get creamy and more delicious. OK, that's all for today. If you like Imagine Your Korea, please press like, share, and subscribe to the channel. See you!

Question: What can we learn from the message?
