On March 6, 2024, Uber Eats started _____ 31. _____ in Tokyo, Japan. The robots came from a tech company called Cartken, and then Mitsubishi Electric helped adapt them for use in Japan. These self-driving robots are smart and great helpers when there aren't enough drivers to deliver food. However, the head of Uber Eats in Japan says robots only fix some of the company's problems because they _____ 32. _____ in Tokyo. Uber Eats plans to use them in more stores soon.

The robots work from ten in the morning to five in the afternoon, from Monday to Friday. When someone orders food on the Uber Eats app, the robot goes to the store to get the order. Then, it takes the food to the person's place. The person uses a key in the app to get their food. Japan is the second country where Uber Eats uses robots to deliver food for customers. _____ 33. _____ country is the USA. Uber Eats began using robots in the USA in 2022.

The robots can carry up to twenty kg of food and keep it hot or cold in their box. They can work for long hours without taking any breaks. Also, the robots have cameras, so they can see the roads and don't bump into anything. _____ 34. _____, they can't go faster than 5.4 km per hour. They can only deliver food to nearby places because they move more slowly than cars, motorcycles, and even bikes. They can't work in bad weather, either. Mitsubishi Electric wants to make the robots even better. They hope the robots can _____ 35. _____ in the future.

The Big Earthquake in East Taiwan Causes Damage to Hualien on April 3, 2024

A strong earthquake hit Hualien on the morning of April 3, 2024. It caused rocks to fall down the mountains in Taroko National Park, and the rockfalls hurt many visitors and took away many lives. To keep visitors and hikers safe, Taroko National Park is closed to the public from now on. The workers will fix the roads during this time. The park will open again when it is safe for visitors and hikers.

Sarah: The earthquake was the strongest one in my life. I wasn't in Hualien then, but people everywhere in Taiwan could feel the shake. I was sleeping then, and my bed was shaking terribly.

Emily: I heard my little sister crying loudly when the shaking started. We all hurried to the backyard. I could feel the earth dancing under my feet. My pet cat hid under the bed and wouldn't leave long after the shaking stopped.

John: When the ground shook, I was taking a test at school. We covered our heads with our school bags and quickly hid under the desk. I wasn't afraid because we students in Taiwan practiced again and again for big earthquakes.

Ava: I felt like I was standing on a giant rolling ball. After the shaking, I hugged my family and felt happy that we were all safe.

Tom: Many people in Hualien lost their homes. To help them, we plan to collect money from April 4 to May 3, 2024. You can donate through the website or the bank. We can work together to make things better.

Lucy: Oh, I heard about that big earthquake in Taiwan. I feel sorry for you and hope you can get over it soon. Best wishes.

Ethan: My friends in Taiwan told me they are used to earthquakes, but this one was so strong.

Max: I'm sad the earthquake made Taroko Park messy. I went there from England nine years ago. People from all over the world love the beautiful park.

Maya: I was driving then and saw the traffic lights moving back and forth like they were dancing. It was a strange sight.

Sarah: Hey, Matt, isn't it amazing to be camping out here in Australia? The outback is so beautiful. Unlike the city view, the outback means the areas of Australia that are far away from towns and cities, especially the desert areas in central Australia.

Matt: You can say that again, Sarah. It's like nothing I've ever seen before. The red desert sands and the clear night skies are simply breathtaking.

Sarah: And the wildlife! Did you know Australia is home to some of the most unique animals in the world?

Matt: Yeah, I've heard about the kangaroos, koalas, and wombats. It's awesome how many local species there are here.

Sarah: Certainly. I'm hoping we'll get to see some of them tomorrow.

Matt: Me too. I've always wanted to see a kangaroo up close in its natural place.

Sarah: Hey, have you heard about the aboriginal cultural tour they're offering?

Matt: Yeah, I saw the brochure. It sounds like an amazing opportunity to learn about the rich history and traditions of the people there.

Sarah: I think it's important to understand and respect the culture of the land we're visiting.

Matt: Surely. It's a chance for us to get a deeper appreciation for this beautiful country and its people.

Sarah: Well, I can't wait to explore more of Australia's natural wonders and learn about its fascinating history.

Matt: Me too.

Distance Learning Pros and Cons
Time-Saving
Pros: ■ Students can stay at home and take courses without going to the physical school. In other words, they don't have to spend time traveling to and from school. In a distance learning program, the classroom is in their home. With the Internet, it is easier and takes less time for students and teachers to share information.	Cons: ■ Without rules in the classroom, students may waste a lot of time on fun and games. Students need to control themselves and spend their time on learning. Besides, sometimes students will find there are difficulties with distance learning. There may be days when their Internet doesn't work and they are not able to follow up their learning with their classmates in time.
Self-Taught
Pros: ■ Everyone has different learning styles and gets their knowledge in different ways. The best part about distance learning is that students can learn at their own speed. They can study as much or as little as they wish every day.	Cons: ■ If students have questions about their homework or trouble in their learning, it is not as easy for them to talk to their teachers as they do at school. When doing distance learning, students may find it hard to reach their teachers.
Flexible
Pros: ■ Students can learn in a flexible way. For example, they study and do their homework whenever and wherever they want to. In some classes, students don't even have to take the class at a fixed time and place.	Cons: ■ In a distance learning class, most students are studying alone. They may feel lonely and miss the chance to talk and play with their classmates. Some students may feel isolated from others and even have mental problems.

三、言談理解：請聽對話和問題，選出一個最適合的答案。(每題 2 分)

11. M: What did you bring home? Pizza again?
W: Yes, it's really yummy. Nobody can make pizzas like they do. Besides, it's cheaper if I buy pizza and fried chicken at a time.

M: Honey, we can't have pizza the whole week.

W: Why not? There are both vegetables and meat on it.

M: Right, but there is also too much oil.

Q: Why doesn't the man like to have pizza?

12. [Phone rings...]

W: Hello, Frank. I'm sorry. I got up a little late. I'll be there in an hour.

M: It's OK. We just began to set up camp, and we need your help.

W: No problem. What can I do for you?

M: Kelly forgot the meat at home.

W: Wow! But I'm not near your home.

M: I know. There's a supermarket on the way here. Could you buy some meat there?

Q: Where is the man?

13. M: Hi, Mrs. Lin. Where are you hurrying to?

W: The bread and the meat in the supermarket are on sale now.

M: All the meat and the bread?

W: Mr. Chen told me so. He came back home with lots of food from there.

M: Great. I'll give my wife a call. We need lots of meat for the family camping trip this weekend.

W: But the sale will end at twelve. We only have... let me see, twenty minutes.

M: Oh, forget about the call. I'll go with you.

Q: Which is true about the man?

14. (M:) Good evening. I'm James Wu. You're here because you want your business to make more money, and you want people to come back to your restaurants again and again. In the restaurant business, fresh and delicious food, of course, is the most important. Anything else? Well, the look of your restaurants matters, too. In our first class, let's talk about the colors of your restaurants.

Q: What is the class about?

15. (W:) Hi, Sam. It's Mom again. Forget about the last message. Take out the clothes from the washing machine, but don't hang them out. Also take the shoes inside quickly. The sky is getting dark. It'll probably rain soon. Hang the clothes in the living room, put the big fan there and turn it on. Then take all the small bowls in the kitchen to your aunt. She needs them for her cooking class. She will be waiting for you with your favorite pancakes at four p.m. That's it. Love you.

Q: Why did Sam's mom leave the message?
